Il gallo, posto sul colmo del tetto di una chiesa in prossimità dell'abside, è l'emblema del predicatore. A quei tempi il gallo era la veglia usuale nella notte buia e ne divideva le ore con il canto; era la sveglia di quanti dormivano perché si arriassero ai campi e celebra ancor oggi il giorno che si avvicina, eccitandosi, sbattendo le ali sui propri fianchi quale premessa al canto

The cock on the top of the church roof is the symbol of the preacher. In that period the cock watch the dreams of the sleepers and woke up them cause they had to go on the fields. Still today it symbolizes the incoming day, flapping one's wings as the prelude to the singing
